Dear Hiring Team at Substance Analyst,

I came across your IMDS Engineer opening and had to apply — this is exactly the kind of role I've been looking for.

I've been working as an IMDS & Materials Compliance Specialist at REACH Talent Consulting in Malta since early 2021. Day-to-day, I manage material data submissions in IMDS for multiple automotive clients, handle BOM-level compliance across ELV, REACH, RoHS, and SCIP, validate supplier MDS submissions, resolve rejections, and run training sessions covering GADSL thresholds and Recommendation O25 recyclate obligations. I also use IMDS A2 Optimizer for batch processing and have built reporting tools in Excel (Power Query, VBA) and Python to automate the more repetitive data work.

On the certification side — I hold official IMDS Advanced qualifications from IMDS Professional (an official DXC Technology partner and Europe's leading certified IMDS training provider), covering Basics (6120), Advanced (6121), and Release 14 (6125). I also completed a dedicated material compliance training at Methode Electronics in 2024, focused on REACH SVHC and RoHS thresholds.

Over the years I've worked directly with OEM clients including Ferrari, VW Group, and PACCAR — handling certification rejections, compliance escalations, and supplier coordination across hundreds of active part numbers. So I'm comfortable with both the technical side and the client-facing part of this work.

What drew me specifically to Substance Analyst is that you're the market leader in IMDS and CDX in Europe, and this is the exact field I've spent my career in. I'm not looking to pivot — I want to go deeper, and your team is the right place for that.

I'm based in Malta, hold an EU work permit, am fully set up for remote work, and can be available with 2 weeks' notice. Please find my CV attached.

I consent to the processing of my personal data by Substance Analyst Zenon Hibner, headquartered in Częstochowa, Wielkopolska 10, for the purpose of participating in the recruitment process.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Pranesh Nallamuthu
